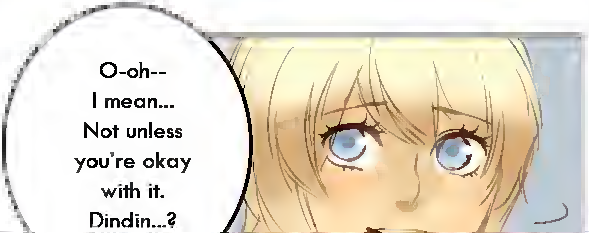
So what do you say? Will you do it?
Well...

hesitant
I'll also throw in this limited-edition alien plushie!
Deal!
So quick!



O-oh--
I mean...
Not unless you're okay
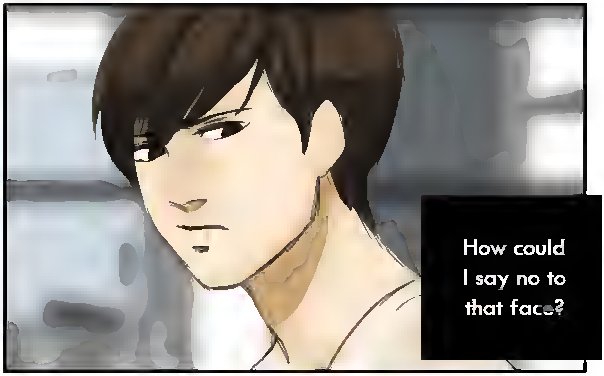
with it.
Dindin...?

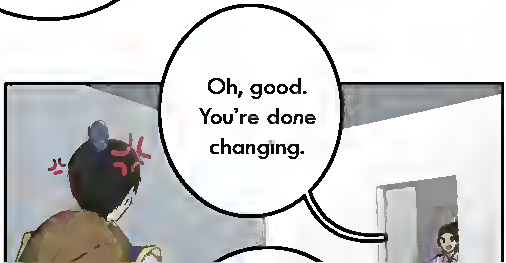


How could I say no to that face?

If you're wondering what dressing up as a Cowherd is like, it's exactly as it sounds.

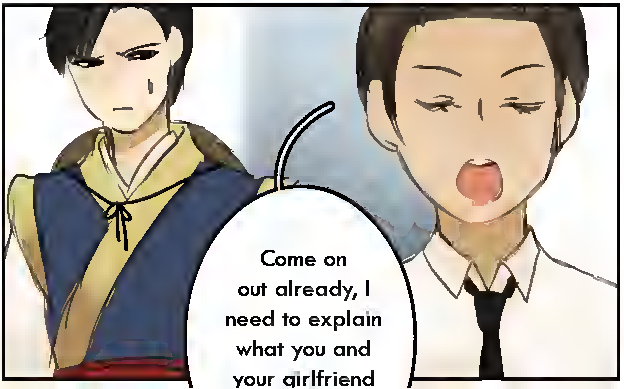
Lame.
Well, at least these clothes are dry.

And it's more likely that people won't recognize me in this thing.



Oh, good. You're done changing.

Don't barge in as you please!



Come on out already, I need to explain what you and your girlfriend will be doing.

Dindin!
You look--

Okay!
Here's what's gonna happen~

The objective is ta lure peaple to the baoth, so we're ganna play an interactive activity.

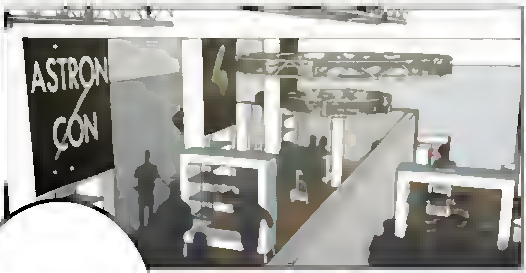
Both of you

both of you will go to opposite sides of the convention and pass out flyers, asking people to assist you back to the booth in order to be reunited.

Whoever arrives back here with either of you-- the more people, the better-- will get a free prize and a 45% discount at our store.

H-huh?! B-but I don't want to be separated from Dash!

from Dinah!
THUMBS UP!
That's the spirit! Way to get into character! It'll be worth it, I promise!

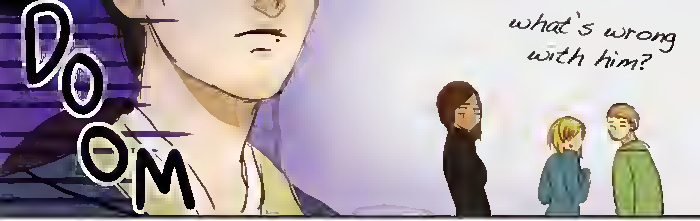


ASTRON
CON
This is all my fault...
gloomy
Is she okay...?

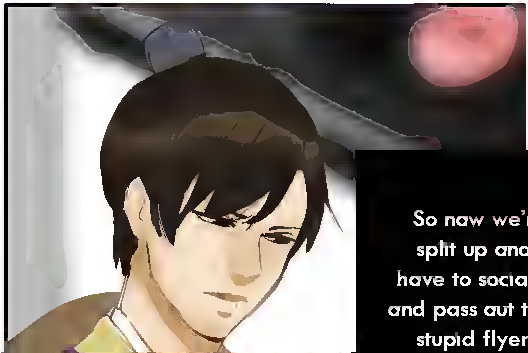
If I had known any better, I would have said no...
I thought going to the convention together would be a good opportunity for him to open up, but now we're separated.

45%
He's been so distant lately too...

I can't even imagine how the Weaver Girl felt in the story.
so scary...

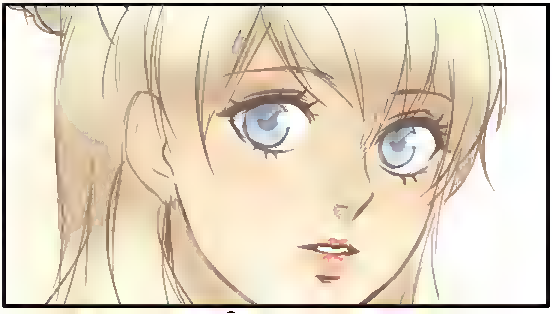


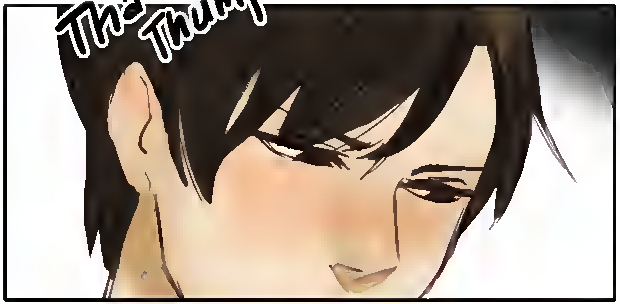
DOOM
what's wrong with him?



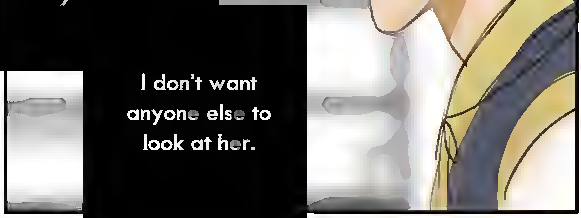
So now we're split up and I have to socialize and pass out these stupid flyers.

Great.





I bet other guys are checking her out at this moment too. It's getting on my nerves.



... But that's petty of me, isn't it? She's a person, not an object.

Which is where I fail ta treasure her praperly. My selfishness makes me all the mare unwarthy.

I just... want ta be by her side.

So after about an hour or so, the "interactive activity" ended rather anticlimatically.

clap

The Weaver Girl and the Cawherd were reunited, but naw exhausted.

Great job, you twa! And as I promised, here's your plushie. I'll also hook you up with free passes

to next year's con!
If that woman
is also going to
be here next year,
I might have to reconsider...

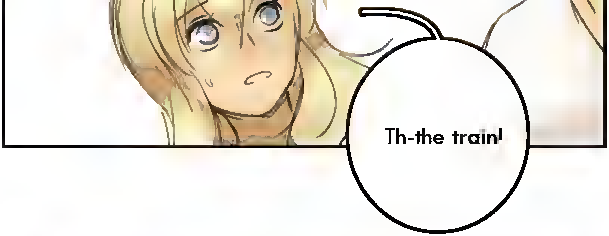
Rachelle, we were supposed to leave here fifteen minutes ago--



Th-the train!

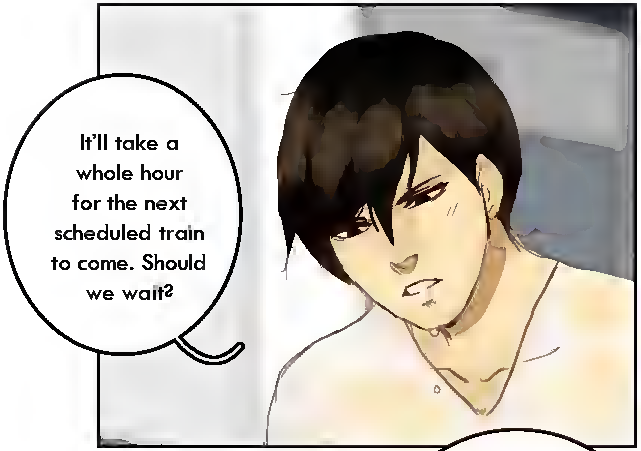
We ran as quickly as we could to the train station.

However, by the time we got there, we had already missed our train by couple of minutes.



It'll take a whole hour for the next scheduled train to come. Should we wait?
The school gate will definitely be closed off by the time we get back.

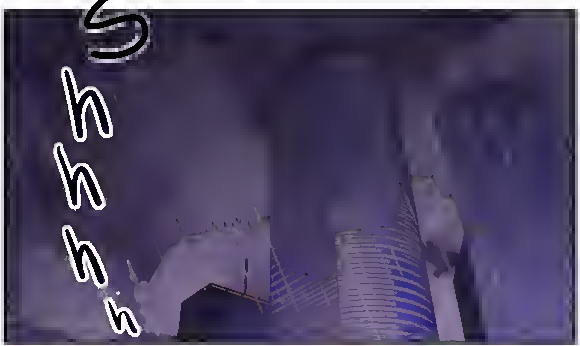
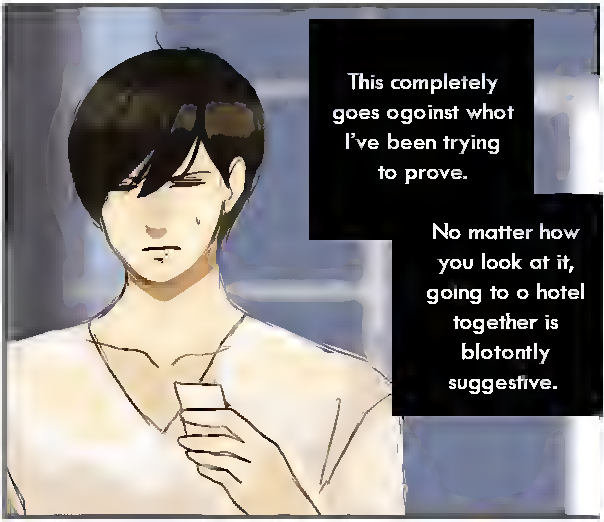
Moreover... You don't look so well either, Dindin. Maybe we should find somewhere to stay and dry off?

I'm fine.
The most important thing is getting you back safely.
He keeps putting my well being before his own.
I can't convince him otherwise...

Well... I may be feeling a little under the weather. So please...?



ssshhh



This completely goes ogoinst whot I've been trying to prove.
No matter how you look at it, going to o hotel together is blotontly suggestive.

We'd like to rent out two rooms for tonight.
Sorry, sir. That's not possible.

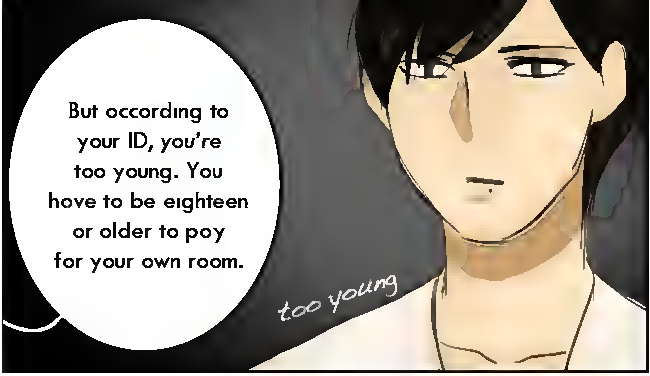
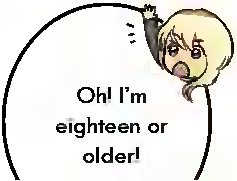
What? Don't tell me they're all booked or something-- Oh, please. That only happens on TV shows and stuff. We have plenty of rooms, thank you very much.



But according to your ID, you're too young. You have to be eighteen or older to pay for your own room.
too young



Oh! I'm eighteen or older!

Then you can book a room, ma'am.

Why do I feel a strange sense of defeat right now?

You take the bed, I'll take the couch.
Okay! I'm gonna hang your coat over here, alright?

I'm glad she's handling the situation well, but isn't she a little too calm?
Or maybe I'm the one who's just overthinking.

I need to relax.

Hey, Dindin--

Ah... He's sleeping.
He must be really tired.
